

Syron/Sullivan Administration 2018-2019

Week ending April 19, 2019

Executive Summary

A Message from the President

This week we finalized the outline for our restorative Justice Model for Noise Tickets. The Power Point was sent out with the weekly email. This isn't the finalized version, Claire and Will are working on that. I'm waiting for a few replies, but we'll start meeting with our suggestions. The Power point will also be included in the BOG report.

The Notes Bank. Faculty Council declined to come have us present. We haven't replied to the chair's email yet, as I'm still drafting my thoughts. I'll meet with Academics next week to decide our next steps.

Despite efforts of sabotage, Ben will be going to SFRB to approve a Budget on Monday. Kevin and I are running out of ways to stay in office forever. We are beginning to grasp reality, and are transitioning them.

We called an Emergency Senate Session to help Ben pass his job descriptions in time. I believe he has a reasonable pool of applicants. The other day, I slept in till almost 11:00. I enjoy watching Ben be tortured as life begins to get easier.

Excited for the week,

-Tristan
